Duff's College, Pittsburgh.

We have already directed the attention of all who desire a reliable business education to this long established and favorite institution. The Principals are not now earning their reputation, as our readers will find by referring to any of our city business houses, or by sending for the new College circular for 1867, which is mailed free to any address by the Principals, P. Duff and Son, Pittsburgh, Pa.

An Emporium of Usefulness.

There are thousands of our readers who from time to time are at a loss to know where to look for certain useful articles which they are in want of, and which they do not know where to find. The stores are searched for this end, and, often, valuable time is squandered, and what is wanted is still not obtained. In such cases advertising often comes to their aid, and the needful article is pointed out through the newspapers. But advertising every separate thing would incur an expense not readily borne, and thus many suffer for want of that which would have added much to their happiness, and, frequently, years to their usefulness and life.

There is in this city, and has been for years, an establishment where may be had nearly every article which medical knowledge and skill has devised, for the amelioration and cure of disease, not only of a functional, but likewise of a mechanical character. We mean the medicine store of DR. KEYSER, AT 140 WOOD STREET. The Doctor has given the best years of his life to the advancement of this department of medicine, and has infused into it a character and usefulness which will ultimately be justly appreciated and valued. Those who wish to consult him professionally can do so at his consultation rooms, No. 120 Penn street, any day from 8 a. m. until 4 p. m. TRUSSES, SUPPORTERS and appliances for every difficulty requiring mechanical aid.

Fine Photegraphs.

The present is excellent weather for the taking of fine, clear and truthful photographs. We observed yesterday in the magnificent show windows of B. L. H. Dabbs' palatial rooms, No. 26 St. Clair street, some photographs which few could believe were taken in the cloudy atmosphere of Pittsburgh. But Mr. Dabbs enjoys a reputation as an artist which is a fortune to him, and every picture turned out, no matter whether costly or cheap, is calculated to sustain the high character of his establishment. His cabinet styles are truly superb, rivaling even the finest of oil paintings from the best of masters. Persons contemplating having pictures taken will do well to favor Mr. Dabbs' gallery with a call. He keeps on hand a full line of cases, frames and photographic materials, where all those engaged in the sun shade owing business can obtain their supplies at the most reasonable of prices. Remember the place, No. 26 St. Clair street.

THIRTY-NINTH CONGRESS,

(SECOND SESSION.)

WASHINGTON, January 4, 1866.

SENATE.

The joint resolution of the Territorial Legislature of Montana, was presented, asking an increase of members to that body.

Mr. Morgan presented the petitions of six railroad presidents, asking for the reduction of duty on railroad iron.

Mr. Morgan presented the memorial of the National Academy of Design, asking a specific duty of one hundred dollars on imported paintings.

Mr. Howard's resolution inquiring into the action of the executive branch of the government in reference to the intervention of France in Mexican affairs was laid over.

The petition of army officers for an increase of pay, was referred to the Military Committee.

The following petitions were presented and referred: For increased tariff on imported wool; and for a reduction of duty on railroad iron. Bills were introduced to donate a portion of the Fort Leavenworth reservation for a public road; and authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Missouri river at Fort Leavenworth; and one granting preemption rights to settlers on Cherokee lands in Kansas.

The bill regulating the tenure of office was taken up, the question being on Mr. Saulsbury's amendment to repeal the entire confiscation bill, instead of the fourteenth section.

Mr. Johnson argued at length in favor of the pardoning power resting solely with the Executive.

After some further remarks Mr. Johnson went on to say: A party must be indicted and tried before he could be adjudged guilty of treason. It wounded his sensibilities as an American citizen to see incarcerated for two years on a charge of treason a man of delicate frame, who worked and, plead for trial. It violated all ideas of American justice.

Mr. Howard asked what power the Courts had to bring such a prisoner to justice without an order from the President of the United States, by whose order he was incarcerated.

Mr. Johnson said, if he was a prisoner of war he could not be tried for treason at all, as the case was whose fault it was. He said the President had directed him to be surrendered to the civil authorities.

Mr. Howard asked whose business it was to issue the warrants.

Mr. Johnson—The Court before whom he was directed to be tried was bound to issue the warrants.

Mr. Howard said that was undoubtedly so, but on the request of the President his law officers had given an opinion which prevented the trial from taking places

Mr. Johnson believed it had been said that the Chief Justice could not preside because he could not charge their circuits, but whether the fault lay with, he thought it a reproach to American justice that he was kept where he was. If he (Johnson) had been President, he would have pardoned Jefferson Davis. In his opinion, such punishment to men already subjugated would be called by the world inhuman. He deprecated harsh measures towards those in rebellion, believing a conciliatory policy would strengthen the government, while severity would be disastrous in its results. Such a course would set America above the world, and we would again be as brothers, having one flag and one country.

Mr. Howe protested against the charge of inhumanity against the Government. He said no government had been so sinned against and yet was so forgiving. The guilt of the war rested on the rebels who commenced it, and though they had forfeited their lives they had not been taken. The senator had said, if he were President he would pardon Jefferson Davis, if he (Howe) had been President he would have tried and punished him. Davis might be in Fortress Monroe. If he (Howe) had been President, he would have died near there long ago, and no feeling of guilt would trouble him.

After further discussion between Messrs. Howard, Hendricks, Saulsbury, Trumbull and Guan-ther, as to the pardoning power of the President, and his use thereof. The amendment of Saulsbury was lost; the bill was read a third time, and passed.

Mr. Wade gave notice that at the earliest possible moment he would call up the bill fixing the time for meetings of Congress.

On motion of Mr. Edmunds all other orders were postponed to allow the consideration of the bill to regulate the tenure of office, whereupon the Senate adjourned to meet on Monday at 12 o'clock.

HOUSE.

The Postoffice appropriation bill was reported and made the special order for Monday.

Mr. Hasson, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported the Postoffice Appropriation bill. It appropriates twenty million six hundred and fifty thousand dollars for the next fiscal year, of which eight million six hundred thousand is for inland transportation.

Mr. Stevens reported the fortification appropriation bill. It appropropriates fifty thousand dollars for Fort Wayne, Michigan, one hundred thousand dollars for Fort Alcatraz, California, and one hundred and fifty thousand dollars for a survey of the Northern and Northwestern States.

The resolution that the people ought not to be taxed further at present for the reduction of the public debt was referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

A resolution was adopted requesting the Secretary of the Treasury to give the amount of internal revenue collected in the first fifth district for each month during the past year, the amount of penalties, and the amount remitted by the department, and the reason for such remission.

A resolution was adopted, instructing the committee on Ways and Means, to inquire into the expediency of discriminating in the tariff in favor of free grown brown sugar, molasses, Coffee, &c., against slave grown.

The bill passed by five and Imprisonment, persons guilty of bribing, to secure the election of Congressmen, and disqualifying such persons from holding any office, was referred to the Judiciary.

The bill giving the Court of Claims jurisdiction in Ohio, and Indiana, so as to cover losses during Morgan's raid, was referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

The Postoffice Committee was instructed to inquire why the mail route from Springfield, Missouri, to San Francisco, has not been put into operation.

The Secretary of the Treasury was requested to furnish information in relation to cotton claims.

The bill to restore the late rebel States to political rights was taken up.

Mr. Lawrence, of Ohio, obtained the floor in the Committee of the Whole on the President's message, and read a lengthy speech.

Mr. Ingersoll made a few remarks, declining to make his arguments to-day.

The subject went over.

After a slight debate, it was agreed that the House meet to-morrow only for debate.

FROM KENTUCKY.

Governor Bramlette's Message—The Use of the Pardoning Power—A General Amnesty to the Rebels.

FRANKFORT, KY., January 4.—Gov. Bramlette's message was delivered this morning. The following is a brief synopsis: He says our people as a body have, since the arbitrament of war, decided to uphold and maintain the right of secession and the doctrine of nullo populi, and the increase of crime is far below the measure of the most reasonable expectations. He says he regards the policy at the close of the war of granting pardons to indicted soldiers of either army, has been rewarded with the happiest results. At the close of a civil war peace and amnesty are correlative and dependent. Without amnesty there can be no real peace. Unless forgiveness is the result of war and relieves ingangared therein, there is no real peace; the war is but transferred from field to forum, where timid and corrupt men may accomplish that for which brave men and true struck the manly blow. To assume that this or that class has acted treasonably will be overwhelming proof to declare a partial, not an entire peace. The breach made by exceptions may widen until the flames of strife rekindle, and these living embers of war may again lick the life blood of our people. Amnesty only can extinguish the embers and cool the heated ashes.

After discussing the mode of proceedure in Congress relative to the amendment to the Constitution previously before Congress, the message concludes. It only requires two thirds of a quorum, or of those present constituting a quorum to impeach, but to propose amendments two-thirds of both houses of Congress must concur, not two-thirds of a quorum or of those present, but two-thirds of both Houses. The resolution submitting the proposed amendment does not come to us with the sanction of two-thirds of the members chosen by the several States to the House of Representatives, twenty-two Senators chosen by eleven States and fifty-five members of the House of Representatives chosen by the people of eleven States not being admitted to seats, nor counted in the pretended passage of the resolution, and it is not therefore constitutionally submitted.

The Governor opposes the amendment on its merits also, and urges the admission of the Southern States.

MISSOURI.

Message of Governor Fletcher—He Opposes a General Amnesty—Pardons to Rebels Should be dependent on Their Good Conduct.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 4.—Governor Fletcher's message was read in the Legislature this afternoon. After strongly commending the Federal Constitution, he urges an amendment to the State Constitution, such as the abolition of the preachers' oath and others, and says he hopes such a modification will be made which will conform our policy, as a State, as nearly as practicable to the National view which may be indicated by the legislation of Congress; but he adds if Congress should allow generously to Blind it to justice and future safety, by giving amnesty to traitors, without distinction as to their conduct, I hope Missouri will refuse to accede to a general amnesty but make forgiveness specially dependent on the future good conduct of each individual.

Judge Grier, whose illness has prevented a decision from the Supreme Court relative to the test oath hitherto demanded of practitioners in that Court, will, it is understood, return to the bench on Monday. It is probable that the opinion on the test oath will then be submitted.

The Government loses eight millions annually in internal revenue taxes by this condition of affairs. The State asks the Government guarantee of six millions in bonds to repair the levees.

OPPOSITION TO IMPEACHMENT.

Many Republican Congressmen have been discussing, to-day, the policy of impeaching the President, and express serious doubts as to its propriety. A caucus will be called tomorrow evening, if a sufficient number of members are in the city, and it is understood that Spaulding, of Ohio, with others, will take strong grounds against the movement.

Horace Greeley.

This gentleman, after having given his lecture at the Academy of Music, on "self-made men," of which class—although, of course, he is not self-made—he himself (notwithstanding distinguished representatives,) stayed over a day in order that he might visit some of the great industrial establishments of Pittsburgh. This he did; and in the afternoon an informal meeting was held, at the rooms of the Board of Trade of gentlemen representing every class of our business men. The object was partly to pay their respects to one of the most steadfast defenders of Liberty and Industry in the Union, and partly to hear Mr. Greeley express his views. Hon. Thomas M. Howe presided, and Mr. Secretary Ward, Esq., acted as Secretary.

After a few felicitous remarks by the chairman Mr. Greely rose and delivered an address remarkable for its force and lucidness, on the subject of protection to American Industry. He told our manufacturers that, in his opinion, they have no reason to expect the present Congress in the way of protection—that that issue was not before the people when the members were chosen, and not until the exciting questions which arose out of the war and rebellion shall be settled, and settled on right principles, can they hope to get the country, especially the great north west, sufficiently enlightened upon the question sufficiently to form correct views in regard to it. He said our former protective tariffs of 1824, '28 and '42 were only enacted in obedience to the great wave of popular opinion; and that nothing short of that will restore the protective policy. He spoke of the unknown views entertained by the agricultural populations of the west, on this subject—that they regarded it as a narrow scheme to promote the interests of a few manufacturing capitalists, instead of a policy essential to the development of the resources of the country, and to the true independence of the nation. In this connection he mentioned the fact that the Democratic delegation in the present popular branch of Congress, although nearly all of them gloried in having been literally Clay Whigs, cast their votes at the last session against the tariff bill.

Mr. Greely predicted confidentially that, in the near future, the people of the south, when they seriously begin to reconstruct their industrial interests on the new basis imposed upon them by the war and its results, will be found the most earnest advocates of some policy of protection. He closed by urging upon his auditors an earnest and persistent advocacy of this vital principle, and expressed a confident hope of its ultimate and early triumph.

Upon the close of Mr. Greely's remarks, Col. James M. Cooper moved a vote of thanks to him, which was carried enthusiastically. After this nearly all present paid their respects personally to their distinguished chief, and had, altogether, a very pleasant time.

Seasonable Dry Goods.

At the fashionable dry goods house of Messrs. Bates & Bell will be found a full stock of seasonable dry goods for winter wear. The firm have recently made new additions to their choice selection of goods, and have introduced all the prevailing styles and patterns of materials in vogue at New York and Paris. This announcement, we know, will be sufficient to attract the attention of the ladies. Everybody who has done any shopping in our city are fully acquainted with the character and style of the house of Bates & Bell. Monopolizing for years past to themselves a large share of patronage, they have striven to keep their stock up to a degree of excellence which will sustain their high reputation.

All descriptions of dry goods, embracing silks, merino-antiques, evening repps and glaciers in all the most beautiful colors, black silks of every quality, poplins, plaids and merino plaids of every variety, calicos, jeans, cassimeres, &c., will be found at prices as reasonable as can be obtained elsewhere. Also a large assortment of broche, long and square shawls, which were purchased direct from the manufacturers' agents, and large and small squares to suit ladies, misses, and children, will be found in the proper department. The firm pay especial and particular attention to their cloak trade, and have now upon exhibition and for sale a nice lot of velvet manties made from the finest quality of Lyons velvet, cloth manties, cloaks and sacques, all of which, in quality, beauty of finish, and durability and excellence of workmanship, will compare with any for sale in the most fashionable eastern houses. We direct the attention of the ladies to this house, knowing full well that it will not be neglected in their shopping tours.

The Holidays are Over.

The holidays have passed and our readers doubtless have settled down to their accustomed quietness and habits of life. So also in business. The rush and turmoil of doing an enormous trade in a brief season is over, and T. A. McClelland's Auction house sales rooms are thronged as usual with purchasers who seek great bargains. In view of the existing depression in trade McClelland has made still further reductions in his prices, and to-day is selling boots, shoes and gaiters at prices which we feel should not credit it with to print. There is, however, nothing strange in this, as the proprietor of this extensive establishment perhaps understands buying to advantage as well, if not better, than any other merchant in the community. He selects nothing but choice goods, and purchases at Sheriff's sale and auction sales of the Metropolitan houses. Thus securing great bargains he can afford to share with his patrons his advantages, and consequently McClelland's has become quite famous as a place for cheap goods. A full line of dress and piece goods will also be found here at prices much less than those which ruled ten years ago. Furs, carpets, housekeeping goods, blankets, woolen goods, &c., &c., are kept in great assortment at the Auction House Headquarters, 65 and 67 Fifth street, where we advise our readers to call, examine the goods and inquire the prices.

ANOTHER TRAGEDY.

Shooting Affray in Allegheny—A Man Shoots His Wife and Father-in-Law.

A shooting affair, which is likely to terminate fatally, and which adds another to the list of domestic tragedies, occurred on Thursday evening, in the Second ward, Allegheny. The parties injured are Mr. Henry Streng, a produce dealer in Allegheny, and his daughter Rosa, both residing at the corner of Buena Vista street and Taylor Avenue, Second ward. The person committing the deed is Jacob Baltzell, the husband of the wounded woman. The particulars of the case, so far as we can learn them, are as follows: In June last Mr. Baltzell, who is a young man of about twenty-six years of age, was secretly married to Rosa Streng at Reno, where she then resided with her parents. The consent of her parents was neither asked nor obtained, and the marriage was kept a secret, the bride still residing with her parents, and the husband returning to his home in Wheeling. They corresponded, and, in August last Rosa, at the invitation of Mrs. Baltzell's sisters, visited their family at Wheeling. While she was there her parents removed to their present home in Allegheny, when afterwards Rosa also came here, having, as Baltzell says, refused utterly to allow the marriage to be made public, and declaring that she would not live with him. She says that an occurrence which took place while she was visiting his family so disgusted her with him that she decided never to live with him. About two weeks ago Baltzell came to the city, as he says, to induce her to go with him as his wife. She refused and he returned to Wheeling. On Thursday afternoon he returned to Allegheny on the four o'clock train, and went immediately to Mr. Streng's house. He inquired for his wife, and was informed that she was sick up stairs, and went to her. Her mother and a young man named Moses were in the room, but left in a short time and went down stairs. Soon after, shortly afterwards screams and the sounds of a struggle were heard up stairs, quickly followed by two pistol shots in rapid succession. Mr. Streng had entered the house and now ran out into the kitchen. The daughter had nearly reached the foot of the stairs, when Baltzell met her, having in his hand a pistol in his hand. The assailant fired two more shots, the first striking Mr. Streng in the right breast and inflicting a mortally fatal wound. The last shot missed and struck the wall. The second shot fired struck Rosa in the left shoulder, inflicting a painful flesh wound. The assassin ran out of the house and that is the last I saw of him; I ran on screaming "murder;" don' know how he got out; my daughter fell, and crept into the closet, where she had after she was shot; he had threatened the whole family a little before; christmas, saying he would injure us all in every way he could, he did not seem intoxicated yesterday; one of my daughters admitted the defendant to the house; he inquired for my sick daughter immediately and came right up to the room; don't know how long after he came in before I went down stairs; did not hear the conversation between him and his wife, as I whispered together; he was about an hour after he came, before the first shot was fired; Mr. Moses and defendant came in; the defendant was not alone with his wife any length of time, had not been alone with her at all before the shots; saw him last coming in; did not come and hang up his coat. Heard no words or noise before the alarm. Did not notice anything peculiar in the prisoner's demeanor only that he sat with his hat on. Did not act in the least wild. Did not notice his eyes. He seemed a little serious. My daughter was in the room when I came in. I saw her out, and he was a couple of steps above her. Don't know whether she was shot then. The last I noticed he was coming down stairs. My daughter says that it was the second shot that struck her. When the threat was made, the defendant came here and asked my husband for Rosa. My husband refused, and he might get him if he wishes, but should never return as his daughter. He then said if she was not allowed to go with him he would kill her. I ran out, and he was a couple of steps above her. Don't know whether she was shot then. The last I noticed he was coming down stairs. My daughter says that it was the second shot that struck her. When the threat was made, the defendant came here and asked my husband for Rosa. My husband refused, and he might get him if he wishes, but should never return as his daughter. He then said if she was not allowed to go with him he would kill her. I ran out, all he could. I have seen the certificate of my daughter's marriage to the defendant. She did not wish to live with him, and said she could not and would not go with him.

Mary Ann McIntosh, sworn.—Was in the house at the time of the shooting; did not see the shooting, but heard it.

THE U. S. SENATORSHIP.

In the organization of the House of Representatives all the elements of opposition to Governor CURTIN united in support of Mr. GLASS for Speaker. Independently of the significance of this vote as touching the Senatorial question, it was a well-earned tribute to an excellent gentleman and an intelligent and efficient legislator. This vote disclosed the fact that the supporters of Governor CURTIN were in the minority, but it did not show that the friends of General CAMERON were in the majority. Not a few experienced politicians inferred from it that neither CAMERON nor CURTIN could be chosen, and that ultimately the contest would settle down between STEVENS and GROW.

As soon, however, as the Houses were organized the question was raised whether by the law of Congress, enacted at the last session, the election for Senator should be held on the second or third Tuesday of the month. The inquiry was certainly pertinent enough, but a wag, familiar with all the ways of Harrisburg, on reading the report of the proceedings, remarked, with a malicious twinkle in his eyes, that he judged the Houses had been "set up," and it was thought to be an expensive luxury to keep them over another week. That was an uncharitable inference, not borne out by any known facts, and we admonish our readers not to take it for gospel, unless they have a mind to.

This was followed by rumors that either CAMERON or CURTIN, or both, would be withdrawn, and STEVENS and GROW be brought forward as the real and ultimate contestants. For Mr. STEVENS's ability, integrity and services we have the very highest respect. No man in the great national controversy now drawing to a settlement, has done more or better than he. But age and infirmities are against him. Possibly he might live out a Senatorial term, but such a result is not probable. Mr. GROW, on the other hand, is in the full vigor of manhood. His natural powers are much above the average of Statesmen; he has been long in public life, and has acquired a vast amount of knowledge specially fitting him for duty in the Senate. From the day of his entrance into that body, he would be at home, and exert a powerful influence. He is, moreover, a true man. No body has ever had occasion to doubt or question where he stood on any public question. There is no more reliable man in the nation. We say, therefore, if CAMERON and CURTIN shall be put aside, let a rally be made for GROW.

But we are free to say we think either CAMERON or CURTIN will be the Senator. Both are tenacious, and neither will give way until forced out of the field. What their respective friends may do in extremity we shall not venture to predict; but we do not as yet anticipate the extremity many imagine they see in prospect.

THE POPE'S SORROW.

The address of the Pope to the officers of the French army on their retirement from Rome was freighted with a sadness too profound to be fathomed by persons who do not entertain the ideas and sentiments in which it had its origin. Looking at his situation from the Protestant stand-point, we see in it nothing alarming. Neither his venerable person nor spiritual office is menaced with violence. His temporal kingship, at most but an accident or incident in his relations to the Christian world, is thereatened with subversion. But this kingship was never so puissant as to secure his independence. The territory and population over which he reigns has always been so limited as to give him the name rather than the potentiality of a monarch. He has been constantly dependent on the great Catholic powers to protect his authority from invasion from without or from revolt from within. Nor is his case any better in this particular at the present moment. He dismally avows his fears of a revolutionary movement that would reduce him to the sorest straits. From whom does he apprehend this movement? Neither from the followers of Mahomet, nor from Protestants, nor from Infidels; but from members of his own communion—from men who recognize his spiritual office and authority, and profess willingness to submit thereto.

Why are the French forces withdrawn? Not because France has recanted allegiance to the Pope, by ceasing to be Catholic. At no former period have the French people manifested less disposition to break with those traditions deemed essential to maintain the unity of the Church. Why is not the French Army of Occupation, now retiring, replaced by another from Spain, Portugal, or Austria? It must be admitted that two of those powers are not as formidable, either absolutely or comparatively, as they formerly were. But, in itself, that fact would furnish a reason why the French troops should remain, rather than sufficient explanation why Spain either alone, or conjointly with Portugal and Austria, does not make provision for garrisoning Rome. The fact is, that a feeling pervades all Catholic countries—at least the more intelligent classes of those countries—that the temporal power, whatever may have been its uses in past ages, has ceased to be necessary or desirable. This sentiment is almost universal in Italy. With no disposition to challenge and impeach the spiritual functions of the Pope, almost all Italians are overmastered by a longing for national unity. For it they have incurred great sacrifices and displayed the most magnificent heroism. After many years of effort they see the grand consummation just before them, and are ready to grasp it.

The day the flag of Italy should wave over Rome, and VICTOR EMMANUEL should declare it to be his capital, the Italian people would be more profoundly Catholic than they are to-day, provided only the POPE should consent to yield his political position and accept their spiritual homage alone. By refusing to meet the demands of the country and age in this particular, he runs the risk of ultimately alienating the Italians from the Church, and so, greatly weakens his spiritual authority and following. This, we think, is the view he will yet take of the matter, and hence attach no consequence to the rumors that he is likely to go to Malta or Jerusalem, or to come to the United States. Rome is the true seat of his power. Elsewhere he would be something less than he is there, and something less than is essential to his headship of the Catholic world.

COLONIZING PALESTINE.

Some time ago the people of the United States were informed of the sailing, from one of the ports in Maine, of a colony, consisting of one hundred and fifty-seven men, women and children, for Jaffa, in Palestine, and the seaport of Jerusalem. These colonists took with them all the materials for frame houses, and had purchased land, in advance of going, upon which to settle and go to work as husbandmen. They were careful to provide improved agricultural implements for their own use.

It appears that these people belong to a peculiar religious sect, known as the "Church of the Mesiah." Some of their points of belief are that they are of the Tribe of Ephraim; that the "curse" has been taken off from the land of Judea; and that the set time has arrived for them to reclaim the inheritance. This is what they have started for. They are organized, civilly and ecclesiastically, and maintain that they are surely to be followed by large numbers of the same faith.

Landing in Palestine at the coming on of warm weather, and without proper medical attendance, the mortality among this company has been very large. Dissatisfactions have sprung up. Probably they have not found the land itself as desirable, as seen through centuries of sacred story, it appeared to their imaginations. Very likely they have become disgusted with the "heathen" whom they find in possession But this much is certain, their ship has left them; and they are in for a hard tussle with Fortune. There is a bare possibility of success; but the chances are many hundred to one that the adventure, conceived in religious ferver, will end in disappointment and disaster.

COLORADO AND NEBRASKA.

The Colorado bill passed at the last session, and was vetoed. It has not been called up this session. It is probable the Nebraska bill, after a considerable amount more of talk, will be passed, and likewise encounter a veto. The prospect now is that neither of these bills can be carried into laws over vetoes. Seven or eight Republican Senators, including SUMNER and FESSENDEN, will not vote for them. Mr. SUMNER declares he will vote for no bill that makes a distinction between whites and blacks as to political rights. Mr. FESSENDEN is opposed to making small States. Other republican Senators have their peculiar objections.

If the Southern States shall continue to refuse approval of the Constitutional Amendment, and if no more Territories shall be elected into States, three-quarters of all the States cannot be secured for the Amendment. Ratification by all the loyal States can be obtained, but as the Supreme Court is ruling on cognate questions, it is probable a ratification by three-quarters of the States actually participating in the government would not be held valid.

It seems plain, therefore, that the Southern States must remain in their present anomalous condition, or be reduced to the status of Territories. If cut down to Territories it is possible a conflict o opinion might arise between the Judiciary and Congress. The Court might hold such cutting down to be illegal, while Congress would maintain its position being a law unto itself.

CHARTIERS RAILWAY COMPANY.

Some weeks ago the franchises and property belonging to the Chartiers Valley Railroad Company was sold at mortgage sale under decree of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. On Wednesday last the persons in whose behalf the franchises and property were purchased, met at Philadelphia, and made a new organization, under the style of the Chartiers Railway Company. We learn that measures will soon be taken to ascertain in what condition the property is; that to this end an engineer will go over the line of the road, note what work has been done, in what condition it remains, and determine what must yet be done, and estimate the cost thereof. We are not able to predict a speedy resumption and completion of the enterprise. Much will depend on the general financial condition of the country, and not a little on the spirit with which the people living along the contemplated route shall meet the new effort.

EDITORIAL GLEANINGS.

THE Conscience Fund of the Treasury Department is still being increased by restitutions made by parties who have defrauded the Government out of small sums of money. The record thus far shows that it is only the small thieves who feel the reproach of conscience, as the sums restored have been quite insignificant. Perhaps the regret that they did not steal more, sets their souls in motion and repentance follows.

THE Court of Appeals in New York has decided in favor of the Constitutionality of the New York Metropolitan Excise law. This will prove a heavy dampener upon the liquor party, who have spent large sums of money in testing the matter.

—It is a singular coincidence that Major-General Grant, a Scotch officer in the British army, in 1778, defeated General Lee, in command of the American forces in New Jersey, and was afterward promoted to the rank of Lieutenant-general, and subsequently to that of General in the British army. SEASONABLE SUGGESTIONS.

Winter, in this climate, is a trying season. Its constantly changing temperature keeps every nerve of sensibility on the stretch, and acts very unfavorably upon that most vulnerable organ, the liver. The alternations of cold and warm, the dryness of the atmosphere, and contracting, and too frequent housing out of the system favorable to the action of the atmosphere on the skin, which produces a chill, and the use of DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, a powerful protective medicine like HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—will restore the digestive organs to their full vigor, and bring the disordered liver into healthful action. One or two wineglasses full of this medicine, taken before retiring, expels fever and ague, fever, and all other forms of bilious disease, and is an antidote to all miasmatic diseases. Strengthen the system with the BITTERS, and you may defy the complaints which prevail at this season. Ja1

CITY AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

Organization of the Fifty-second Council---Election of Officers.

According to the Act of Incorporation, the members, and members elect, of the City Councils, met at their respective chambers yesterday morning at ten o'clock, to receive, examine and determine upon the returns of the election held on the first Tuesday of January for members of Councils.

A quorum being present the meeting was called to order by the Clerk of the last Council, E. S. Morrow, who proceeded to open and read said returns, which were presented to him by the Mayor of said city, whereby it appears that the following named persons had been duly elected members of said Council, to wit:

For the First ward, George W. Coffin; for the Second ward, William Phillips; for the Third ward, J. C. McCarthy; for the Fourth ward, James McAuley; for the Fifth ward, Thomas C. Dickson; for the Sixth ward, Jas. P. Tanner; for the Seventh ward, James M. McKenna; for the Eighth ward, Henry E. White; for the Ninth ward, David Crawford; for the Tenth ward, T. J. Gallaher.

On motion of Mr. McAuley, the returns, as read, were approved, after which the Clerk announced that the election of a President was in order.

Council then proceeded to the election of President, and on motion of Mr. McMillan, James McAuley was unanimously elected President of said Council, and took the oath of office, which was administered to him by Mr. Coffin, the member designated for that purpose by the Clerk.

On taking the chair, President McAuley made a few pertinent remarks, during which he thanked the members for the renewed evidence of the confidence in him they reposed in him, as manifested by their flattering vote.

The election of Clerk being next in order, E. S. Morrow, Esq., was nominated and elected unanimously, and Captain S. B. Cooper was reelected Door-keeper by acclamation.

The oath of office was then administered by the President to all the newly elected members of Council, with the exception of Mr. McEwen, of the seventh ward, who was absent.

The oath of office was then administered to Messrs. Morrow and Cooper, after which, the organization being completed, the Clerk was directed to notify Common Council of the fact.

Mr. Phillips offered the following:

Resolved, That the Controller be and he is hereby authorized to certify warrants on the Contingent Fund in favor of the Judges of the several election districts, for the sum of $21 each, and $10 additional for rent room in the Tenth ward, for expenses of election for City Officers held January 1st, 1867.

Which was read three times and passed.

On motion, Council adjourned until Tuesday, January 8th, at 7 p. m.

COMMON COUNCIL.

The Common Council was called to order by Hugh McMasters, Esq., Clerk, who proceeded to read the votes for members of Council from the several wards, from which it appeared that the following gentlemen were duly elected:

First Ward---W. R. Boggs, A. B. McQuewan.
Second Ward---E. House, D. O'Neill, Thomas Steele.
Third Ward---J. J. Torley, J. G. Weldon.

The returns were duly approved, after which the clerk announced that the next business in order was the election of a President.

Thomas Steele, Esq., was placed in nomination, and unanimously elected.

The oath of office was administered by N. J. McGowan to President Steele, who entered at once upon the duties of his office. On taking the chair, he returned thanks to the members for the honor conferred upon him, and hoped that his administration of the duties devolving upon him would continue to meet the approval of the members.

The election of Clerk being next in order, Hugh McMaster, Esq., was unanimously reelected.

Capt. S. B. Cooper was re-elected doorkeeper unanimously.

The oath of office was then administered to the members by the President, after which Hugh McMasters, clerk, and S. B. Cooper were severally sworn into office.

The Clerk was then directed to notify Select branch that the Common Council was organized and prepared for the transaction of business.

On motion of D. O'Neill, the rules governing the last Council were re-adopted.

Mr. O'Neill moved that when Councils adjourn it be to meet at seven o'clock on Tuesday evening, for the purpose of electing city officers to serve for the ensuing year. Adopted.

The roll was then called, when every member answered to his name. The members then selected their seats by lot, after which Council adjourned.

Meadville City Building.

The new "City Building" just completed in Meadville, was constructed in two months and eight days---about as quick work as is done even in that section of rapid building. Its total cost was $12,000. John C. Coddington, Esq., who erected the Mellenry House and the Railroad depot at Meadville, is the architect of this structure. A bell, weighing 1,700 pounds, is now purchased and placed in the cupola. The Meadville Daily Republican gives the following description of the edifice:

It is situated on Chestnut street, below the Old Court House, and is two stories high, besides the basement. The basement contains a lock-up, with three cells, and a reservoir and coal cellar. Upon the first floor are the office and hook and ladder rooms, and stable for horses belonging to the steamer. The hose tower opening from this story is twenty-eight feet high. The second floor contains a hall through the center, upon the right of which is the Hope Hose Company's room, eighteen by thirty-five feet, on the left the Keystone Hook and Ladder Company's room, twenty-three by thirty-five feet. The City Council room, twenty-three feet square, is in the rear of the Hook and Ladder Company's room. In the rear of and connecting by folding doors with the Hose Company's room, is a large room intended for a police court hall.

Born Away From Home.

The Cleveland Herald says:---About a fortnight since, a lady of this city, returning from the East, via Pittsburgh, gave notice to the conductor, near Bayard Station, Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad, that a new and beautiful ray of sunlight---a fresh smile---a fresh rose in the garden of immortality---a fresh joy for life---a fresh spirit to be educated for its future mundane and bliss eternal, would be ushered into this breathing world upon the train if some provisions was not made for its advent elsewhere. The lady was taken to a house near the station, where a daughter was safely delivered and placed in the arms of its happy mother that night, who, as a compliment to the conductor for his very modest and gentlemanly attention, immediately named it Jennie Bruce.---All those who have had the pleasure of rattling o'er the rails of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh Road will recognize in the middle name the surname of one of the best conductors in this country. The lady, accompanied by her husband, who, subsequent to the birth, went to Bayard, returned to her home, on Cherry street, last Monday.

The Game Laws.

We call the attention of those interested to the fact that the time for killing either pheasant or quails in Allegheny county has already expired, and it is now time for those who have the matter in charge, to see that the law is faithfully carried out. Attention is called to the change made in the Game Law last winter. Act 18th April, 1866, P. L., p. 714:

Section 1. That no person shall shoot, kill or otherwise destroy any pheasant between the first day of January and the first day of September, or any woodcock between the first day of January and the 15th day of August, or any partridge or rabbit between the first day of January and the 15th day of October in each and every year, under a penalty of five dollars for each offense.

Section six is a re-enactment of section six of the act of 1858, with this amendment: That instead of imprisonment for ten days, it shall be ten days, without bail or imlnprise.

By reference to the Game Laws of Pennsylvania, dealers will find what risks they run by having birds in their possession.

City Mortality.

The interments in the city from December 23d, to December 30th, as reported by Dr. George L. McCook, physician of board of health, are as follows:

Males.....9 | Whites.....15 | Total.....18
Females.....9 | Colored.....0 |

The diseases in the above cases were: Diseases of Brain, 2; Typhoid Fever, 3; Disease of Heart, 1; Accident, 1; Cancer, 1; Congestion of Liver, 1; Bronchitis, 1; Diphtheritis, 2; Still Born, 2; Convulsions, 1; Pneumonia, 1; Debility, 1; Congestion of Lungs, 1.

Almost a Life Lost.---We are informed that on Friday last, a pedlar came near losing his life on the track of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad, at Bellaire. The said pedler was walking along between the rails, and failed to notice an engine, drawing a train, approaching him, until within fifty yards of it. He made a sudden leap to one side, and found that he had almost jumped out of the frying pan into the fire, as he landed in a hole between the ties. This hole was not large enough to admit of his lying down in it, so he made a second spring, with the agility of a deer, and had the satisfaction to find that the train had run over his cap and pack, and not himself.

Much Ice.---The ice piled up in the Muskingum, at Zanesville, on Sunday, causing the river to rise several feet and pressing upon the Central Railroad bridge, so as to move it about a foot and a half. The bridge was promptly repaired, so that the cars crossed on Monday morning. The Courier says that the oldest settlers never knew such an occurrence before.

Postponed.---The Cleveland Leader says: Owing to the fact that the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Wilson, has not yet been filled, the next term of the United States Court for the Northern District of Ohio, which was to commence on the first Tuesday in January; has been adjourned till the first Tuesday in February.

The Leading Question.---A passenger car rolled down an embankment on the Oil City and Pithole Railroad, on Saturday night. When it "brought up," the first word spoken was by an old gentleman who was lying under the stove and who asked for a light to find his spectacles. Nobody was seriously hurt.

A Go d Shot---The Hollidaysburg Register says: M. A. Wertz killed two wild turkeys out of flock of eight at one shot, on the Loop mountain the other day. The ball passed through the neck of one and struck the other on the wing.

Well Provided---Mahanoy City, Penn'a., has five fire plugs, a hose carriage and five hundred feet of hose.

Verdict of "Not Guilty," as to John Willock.

In the Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday morning, before Judges Stowe and Mellon, the jury in the case of John Willock, indicted for the murder of Harrison Murphy, on the steamboat Chieftain, came into court, having remained out over night. The foreman announced that the jury had agreed upon a verdict, finding the prisoner "guilty of involuntary manslaughter." His Honor, Judge Stowe, remarked that such a verdict could not be found under the indictment, and therefore set it aside. The jury again retired to their room, and after an absence of about fifteen minutes, returned, having agreed upon a verdict of "not guilty." The accused was then discharged, and on passing from the Court room received the warm congratulations of his friends.

Important to Soldiers.---We have just been made aware of the fact that the additional bounties under Act of July, 1866, about the payment of which there existed so much doubt at the time, are now being cashed at the proper departments. Mr. B. F. Brown the well-known and responsible claim agent, No. 67 Fourth street, yesterday exhibited to us a number of cheques for bounty on claims sent on by him but recently, so that soldiers who have not yet made a move in the matter, had better apply immediately, as there is now a certainty of all claims being paid upon presentation.

Death of an Old Citizen.---Mr. J. Koup, an old citizen, died in Liberty township, on Wednesday, at the advanced age of 84 years. The deceased migrated to Allegheny county from Eastern Pennsylvania with his father, Col. Jonas Roup, at the close of the last century, and, up to middle age, was known as an enterprising and useful citizen. For the last thirty years he has been an invalid.

Proposed Consolidation.---A proposition has been made to the citizens of Venango City to consolidate with Oil City, and thus have both places under one municipal government. Should the consolidation be effected, prompt action will be taken for a city charter.

A Bad Look.---Two policemen in Cincinnati, on Monday, arrested two men, merely on account of their villainous looks, and found evidence on their persons almost certainly convicting them of a burglary committed the night before.

An Unfortunate Office---The editor of the Kenton, Ohio, Republicanus offers an apology for the delay of his paper; that one of his men was getting married and another one was sick, leaving to be inferred which was the more afflicting event.

In Operation.---The Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph Company has its lines in operation between Harrisburg and Gettysburg.

HARDICK'S

Patent Double-Acting

STEAM PUMP

AND

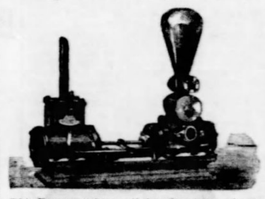
FOR PUMPING

WATER, CRUDE AND REFINED OIL



This Pump combines all the advantages of other styles of Pumps now in the market, with none of their defects. The Patent Steam-Valve applied to this Pump enables it to start at once without the use of a starting-gear, or to attach a fly wheel around to set it off the centre. For Mining purposes this Pump is perfectly adapted, as the Valves can be removed by unscrewing one nut, and the Valve-chest cleaned in a few minutes. As the Pump is single in its action, the production of oil does not require the neighborhood of a machine shop to keep it in working order. The Valve-Seats and Valves are made of brass or composition, and can be easily replaced when worn out. Any capacity can make, in a few minutes, from a soft wood, a set of Valves for this Pump, if the original ones should give out. As a Boiler Feeder, it has no superior, as it can be run at any speed, either slow or fast, to suit the work it has to perform. The undersigned respectfully solicit the attention of their numerous customers and the public in general to the merits of this Pump, and desire those wishing such an article to call on

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Court of Quarter Sessions.

Court met as usual yesterday morning and the following cases were disposed of before Judge Stowe:

The trial of Frederick Lyman and George Evans, for burglariously entering the premises of George Massey, colored, on Fourth street, in the Second ward, and taking therefrom clothing to the amount of between $200 and $300 was proceeded with, and resulted in the acquittal of defendants.

Patrick Kerwin and Thomas Duncan, indicted for vending spirituous liquors without license, were brought in on process and pleaded guilty. Kerwin was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs, and sentence in case of Duncan was deferred.

A surety case, in which Henry Willis and Adam Gephart were concerned, was disposed of by the parties being ordered to pay one-half the costs, and to enter into their own recognizances in the sum of $300 to keep the peace for one year.

The next case was one of rather a singular nature. John Honnessey was placed on trial on an indictment charging him with fornication. During the present term he was tried for adultery and acquitted. Both indictments having been found on the same day, the question was raised whether the one was not a bar to the other. The point was reserved by the Court. William Vaughn was the prosecutor, and is the father of the woman Bridget Vaughn, with whom the offense is alleged to have been committed. He was also the prosecutor in the former case, on the trial of which he testified that the defendant was living in a state of adultery with his daughter, having a wife in Ireland. In the present case he testified that they were still living together under the same circumstances. The defendant was attended in court by the woman he claims as his proper wife, and his mother-in-law was also seated near him nursing an infant avowed to be the fruit of his marriage. There was no proof of marriage, but it was stated by the defendant, to be perfectly satisfied with the situation of affairs, that her daughter and Honnessey, on one occasion, left the house with the expressed purpose of getting married. The singular spectacle was presented of a man living with a woman whom he claims as his wife, in the house with her mother, sisters and brothers, contributing to their support, and in all respects acting seemingly proper, being arraigned for the crime stated, his son-in-law, his father-in-law, who, notwithstanding the latter's failure to convict of the graver charge under the former indictment, wrathfully pursues him, and persists in asserting guilt without being able to substantiate the same with proof. Under the circumstances the Court thought the jury should acquit, which they did, and before they that William Vaughn, the prosecutor, should pay the costs. There was a case of abandonment against Vaughn for refusing to support his wife and family, in which he was ordered to pay the costs. The counsel for the defense of Honessey were Hugh Duffy and R. S. Morrison.

At the afternoon session James Craig and Benjamin Hall, the young men accused of stabbing and abetting in the killing of O. M. Myers, by James Laughran, in Lawrenceville, a few months ago, were arraigned, and the District Attorney stating that he had no evidence against them, and was satisfied of the innocence of the defendants, the jury rendered a verdict of acquittal. At the time of their arrest the impression prevailed, and subsequent investigation strengthened it, that Craig and Hall were arrested to prevent their appearance as witnesses on behalf of Laughran, who was convicted of manslaughter, and in whose case a motion is arrest of judgment is pending. It is claimed that had Hall and Craig been allowed to testify, their version of the transaction would have resulted in the acquittal of Laughran. They will now, however be permitted (and such is their intention) to make statements in open court, which will result in Laughran being allowed a new trial, or at least in his receiving a very light sentence. The counsel for Hall and Craig was ex-District Attorney Kirkpatrick.

Henry Rafe was next placed on trial on an indictment charging him, on oath of Shibrot ee-m-law, Francis L. Busha, with forging a judgment note for the sum of five hundred and twenty-eight dollars, dated August 6th, 1866, which passed into the hands of Schumaker & Lang. The parties reside and are engaged in business in Allegheny City. The prosecutor, Mr. Busha, testified that his signature to the note in question (produced in evidence) was a forgery, and that it was in the hand-writing of the defendant. The note was sued upon and execution issued, which prosecutor had endeavored to have set aside, alleging the forgery in an affidavit to the Court. For the defendant a conclusive case of innocence was made out.

John Nusser appeared as defendant in an indictment charging him with the larceny of thirty bushels of potatoes from August Nickbaugh, in Ross township, on the 16th of October last. The circumstances of the case were as follows: Nusser, who resides in Birmingham, prior to the alleged larceny, purchased a tract of ground in Ross township from Mr. Shuman, in a portion of which the potatoes in question were planted. The prosecutor, Nickbaugh, had an interest in the potatoes, and after the purchase had been consummated, there was some conversation about this between Nusser and Shuman, the former refusing to pay the prosecutor for his interest, and in taking possession of the ground also took charge of the potatoes. The Commonwealth failed to make out a case of larceny, and the jury found a verdict of not guilty.

The jurors were relieved from further duty until Monday morning at ten o'clock. The Court will meet to-day for the transaction of miscellaneous business.

Widowed, Married and Betrothed.

Strange things happen in every day life. Even in the humdrum drift of occurrences in Allegheny county, matters transpire which for downright sensational and romantic characteristics might furnish forth an entire novel under the manipulations of Miss Braddon. A little affair of this sensational, seriocomic character has been enacted within the past few days in our immediate neighborhood. The names of the parties we withhold by request. Suffice it to say that the heroine is not named Lady Audley or Lady Isabel, nor is any of the parties more in the select world. It is to be feared, indeed, that they are not invested even with the romantic halo of poverty-stricken refinement, but they have a good deal of human nature in them for all that, and have got up quite a little romance in the rough.

Some time since a young German woman living at McKeesport, was left a widow with some six hundred dollars. During the early period of her widowhood she was approached by two suitors. One was the brother of her deceased husband, and was apparently playing the devoted to the six hundred dollars. The other man was a young German who was to all appearances, earnest and honest in his suit. The latter promptly popped the question and was promptly accepted. The happy day was fixed for New Years, in order that the happiest day of the year might also be the happy day of many years. Meantime the brother-in-law also confessed the passion that was devouring him and urged his claims on every ground, and with every style of eloquence. He was refused and rebuffed, but still he persevered. He was told of the prior engagement, but still he insisted though his answer was given in the form of a kiss instead of three. Meanwhile the happy couple were published the requisite three times in the German Catholic Church of Birmingham, and the brother-in-law seemed to have at least given up the case as hopeless. As will be seen, however, he was only devising new measures of aggression.

On New Year's day the prospectively happy lovers met at church and received the required preliminary kiss, after which they separated to meet again for the marriage ceremony in a brief hour. The gentleman went in one direction, to the house of a friend, and the lady went in another direction, where she met her brother-in-law with a friend and was cordially invited into a private drinking house, where she was offered with wine, as she says, until she was considerably inebriated. While she was in this condition, not knowing or caring particularly what happened, she was taken to a magistrate's office and there straightway joined in the holy bonds to her sharp brother-in-law! After the new made husband had obtained his certificate, the party returned to the drinking house. At the door they were met by the expectant bridegroom, who took his expected bride by the hand to conduct her to the church. The bridegroom in realization pulled out the certificate and thrust it in the face of the astounded man. Here were good grounds for a row, and a row ensued. The conflict between civil and ecclesiastical law was fully canvassed on both sides. At last the husband offered a compromise. Let the man who was not the husband pay to the man who was the husband, the sum of five dollars, and he should have the wife, certificate and all. This was indignantly refused. Afterwards the husband threw the certificate into the fire, saying he could keep the wife without the paper. The disappointed lover rescued the document from the flames and stuck it into his pocket, declaring that he would substitute his own name for the other, and so have the wife in spite of all.

Each one having thus declared his ultimatum they separated, and the matter stands now in the position we have indicated. The unwilling wife was in the city yesterday seeking for some means of release from the matrimonial yoke, but went back at last resolved to be a good wife for the present at least. Probably the avenue to divorce will open through dereliction on the part of the husband, as he has already boasted extensively that he will not support his wife. Meantime he has possession of the wife and the six hundred dollars.

Handsome Compliment.

We are modest but cannot resist the temptation of re-publishing the following neat compliment paid us by the Meadville Republican:

"On New Year's day the Pittsburgh GAZETTE celebrated its 81st anniversary. It was the first newspaper established west of the Alleghenies, and in point of ability it has no superior in the State. It is radically right on all the great issues of the day, and its long and earnest devotion to the cause of freedom has endeared it to all true Republicans; fair but with the courage, the GAZETTE is frank, fearless and dignified in all questions, and is, indeed, a journal of which Pennsylvanians may well be proud."

Central Park.—Grand Carnival this afternoon and evening at Central Park, at which time Miss Nellie Dean, the Fairy, will appear, with an entire change of programme, introducing some astonishing and intricate feats on her beautiful silver skates, never before performed on the Crystal. The engagement of Miss Dean is fast drawing to a close, and those wishing to see elegance of grace, combined with wonderful dexterity of manœuvers, should not fail to see the accomplished and beautiful little Skatorial Queen.

Unconstitutional.—The civil court at Harrisburg, has decided that the City Council had no authority to expend money of the payers in suppers and whisky. Inspection of Steamboats.

In the United States District Court, yesterday, the Board of United States Local Inspectors submitted their report to Judge McCandless for the quarter ending December 31st, 1866. From the report, which was ordered to be filed, we glean the following:

	No.	Tonnage.
Passenger steamers inspected	14	4,804 11
Towboats inspected	46	12,482 12
Freight boats inspected	1	147 19
Canal Propellier	1	166 09
Totals	62	17,606 42

The inspectors state that they have investigated two cases of collision and taken testimony in other cases, for use of local boards in other districts. In the collision case in this district, but little damage was done, and there was but slight peril to life, if any. The cases are still under consideration. In regard to the bursting of the boiler of the towboat "Tom Rowe," the report states that no person was injured, and that but little damage was done to the boat. The boilers had been properly attended to on the night previous to the explosion, but how the water had, by some means unknown, escaped from the boiler during the night, and when the fires were started in the morning the explosion speedily followed. The engineer was found guilty of negligence in leaving his post while the fires were burning under the boilers, and for not trying the water in the boilers before firing up. In consequence of his general good character as a man and engineer, however, the Board felt disposed to deal leniently, and merely suspended him for ninety days.

Re-Arrested.—Fred Lyman, one of the defendants discharged yesterday by the Court, having been acquitted on a charge of larceny preferred by George Massey, had not a long run of liberty. The overcoat which Massey alleged to have been stolen, and which Lyman claimed as his own, was identified by Mr. Edward Brush, of the Ninth ward, as his property. Mr. Brush made information before the Mayor, charging Lyman with larceny. A warrant was issued and the accused was arrested on Fifth street by officer Moon.

Horrible Outrage.—It is reported that several young men, made fiends by liquor, committed such terrible outrages on three young women, living near Hoodtown, in Jefferson county, a week or so ago, that one of them died soon after. They had been to a party or dance, and the girls had refused, when the brutes, said to have been seven or eight men of the neighborhood, went to their room and made the assault. Several of them are now in jail at Mauch Chunk.

Had Been to See Jack Sheppard Played.—On Thursday two lads, sons of Mr. J. H. McClelland, while passing along Washington street, in the vicinity of the jail and house, were attacked by a crowd of boys congregated there, firmly held, and their pockets filled of small amounts of money, pocket knives, etc. The young villains have made the locality a permanent rendezvous, and several robberies like the above have been perpetrated by them.

Another Lamp Explosion.—On Wednesday evening last Mrs. Fisher, wife of Joseph Fisher, a coal miner, residing at Dravesburg, Mifflin township, in this county, was terribly burned by the explosion of an oil lamp. Her injuries are principally about the chest and bowels, and are so severe that she will hardly recover. She is attended by Dr. Huey, of McKeesport.

—As the causes which have united to produce the existing stagnation in trade and demand for money at full legal rates, upon the best collaterals, still exist in full force, this hope will hardly be realized. War taxes continue to soak up the substance of the people, and at the same time there is going on a contraction of legal tender money—a contraction soon to be stopped by decreasing taxation to a point where the people will have the power to cancel legal tenders or to buy up compound notes, then notes legal reserve for banking purposes. Unless these compound notes are renewed in some form as they mature, an idea which should not for a moment be entertained by Congress or the Treasury, there must be a sharp contraction in the public caution and bank credits. The compound notes now represent probably $500,000,000 of bank credits, which must be retired as the compounds mature. The plain legal tenders are being retired very slowly, and thus far the decrease in legal tender money of all kinds has had no effect beyond advancing the rate of interest on call from 5 to 7 per cent. But other and more violent effects will be shown upon the money market, and the prices of commodities, as contraction proceeds to that stage where the combined amount of legal tenders, compound notes and coin fall below the legal reserve required under the banking law. Then will be seen a scramble to sell goods and to borrow money similar to that in December, 1865, when merchants who would have marked the history of commercial enterprises stimulated by excessive paper credits. The new year opens to us by being deficient solely to meet obligations based on commodities bought at high prices by selling the same at lower rates, which means that a good many indebts are to remain unpaid. The real cost of the rebellion is now beginning to appear, and those who manage their affairs upon the model adopted by the government are making and spending two millions of paper money per day, and was at the same time draining money out of the country to pay an immense iron-clads, will soon find their error. The great purchaser with manufactured money has dropped out and is succeeded by the gatherer and funded debt requiring daily nearly half a million of dollars for interest alone.—N. Y. Tribune.

—The sixteen hundred and forty-seven National banks now in active operation had in circulation at the close of last week $288,307,-203, secured by United States bonds deposited to the amount of $284,467,700. The expense of printing these notes during the last fiscal year was $264,184, and the paper cost $25,734. Over $2,000,000 in mutilated and worn out notes have been sent to the Treasurer, but where they are placed in an immense revolving iron cylinder, carefully locked, through which a blast of air passes, so that not a single ink is completely removed, and a mass of pulp remains. This is bleached and manufactured into envelopes for the Treasury Department. Large amounts of mutilated and worn out fractional currency are thus decomposed and reconstructed into envelopes.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, January 4, 1867.

The operations in the produce markets continue very much restricted, and while there is no apparent failing off in the arrivals of Flour, Grain, etc, etc, yet there is no improvement in the demand, and with stocks accumulating, and but very few buyers, and those few buying very sparingly, our business men continue, as for some months past, to complain bitterly of dullness and general stagnation.

GRAIN—Wheat is quiet and unchanged; we can report a car of extra No. 1 Chicago spring at $2.65. Corn is very dull, and in good supply, and the same remarks will apply to Oats. In fact nothing is doing in Grain, and on track, and the latter at 48 to 50. Barley continues very dull; we have a sale of 1000 bushs Spring at $1.30, and private sales are supposed to be about 90 cents. Rye is in demand at $1.25 for prime Ohio and Penna, and $1.20 for Western.

FLOUR—Is quiet but firm, at former quotations—$12.25 to $12.50 for good to choice brands of spring Wheat; $13.50 to $14 for Winter Wheat and $13 to $17 for fancy brands. Good brands of Rye Flour selling at $8 to $8½. Buckwheat dull at $4 to $4½ per cwt.

SALT—Continues to come pretty freely, and with a supply in excess of the demand, the market is dull, and prices are unsettled. One dealer reports having sold 3 cars prime at $2.80, another, a car at $2.85, still another, that he has considerable in store and arriving, made the remark that he did not believe more than $2.60 could be realized for a round lot of 50 tons. From all that we can learn, prime baled Hay cannot fairly be quoted above $23 to $25, loose do $18 to $20 per ton.

HOGS—Dressed Hogs arriving pretty freely; may be quoted steady at 7½c to 8c—8½ in a retail way. Live Hogs remain about as last quoted, 5 to 6½, for fair to good average.

APPLES—Steady, with a moderate demand, and regular sales in store at $3 to $4 per bbl, as to quality; receipts slight.

POTATOES—There is no improvement to note in the demand, and Peach Blows may be quoted at 60 to 65c per bush.

DRIED FRUIT—Sale of 50 bbls Apples, to the trade, at 8c. In a regular way, in store, we would be to quote at 10c for Apples, and 16 to 21 for Peaches—quarters and halves.

BUTTER—Is dull, with a supply considerably in excess of the demand, and prime Roll is selling at 30 to 32.

EGGS—Continue very dull, and in good supply; small sales of fresh packed at 30 cts per dozen.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, January 4, 1867.

CRUDE—The Crude market remains as it has been for weeks past, dull and neglected, with but comparatively little offering, at present, and but little wanted. We can report a sale of 300 bbls, (36 gravity) to be delivered on the opening of navigation, at 9c, in bulk, and this seems to be the asking figure for March, April and May, some are asking more, but so far as we can learn, there are none willing to sell for less. On the spot, good merchantable oil, in the above positions, may be quoted at 8 to 8½, in bulk, and 13½ to 14, packages included, and these may be regarded as the extremes of the market. It is reported that a slight advance has been established at the wells, but what caused the advance, we are unable to state. There has certainly been no improvement in this market, and the same can be said of both Philadelphia and New York.

REFINED—There was not a single operation in bonded oil to-day that we could hear of, and the market presents no new features worthy of special notice. It is said that there were sales in Philadelphia to-day at 27 for this month, which is the lowest figure named this season, and allowing one for cost of transportation, would bring prices here to 26c on board cars. Free oil is dull and unchanged.

ARRIVALS—We have the following arrivals of oil, by rail, from Smith's Ferry reported:

Waring & Kline	29	Johnston & Co	73
J. B. Hutchison	103	P. Weisenberger	56
H. B. Smithson	31	J. Gallagher	95

PITTSBURGH IRON AND BLOOM MARKET—WEEKLY REVIEW.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, January 4, 1867.

The first part of the month of January is usually characterized by dullness in the iron business, but at the present time dullness and stagnation continue to rule supreme, and worse than all, there are no indications at present of any immediate improvement. There is no demand for metal of any importance, the mills contemplating suspending operations within the next few days, and there is little or no inquiry for foundry iron or blooms. It is but proper to state, however, that as yet, the stock of destitute brands of mill iron in this market is not very large, and holders do not seem disposed to force sales, preferring rather to hold off in anticipation of a reaction for the better. When the mills will start up again, is a matter which time alone will develope, but the general impression seems to be that the wages of puddlers and all others killed laborers employed about these establishments, will have to let down first. It is said that puddlers are, and have been, getting about forty per cent more here than the mills in the east are paying, and the consequence is, that eastern manufactured iron can be laid down here cheaper than our mills can afford to make it.

The Petroleum Trade.

The Erie (Pa.) Dispatch posts up the year's business in petroleum, as follows:

	Barrels.
Stock on hand Jan. 1, 1866	200,000
Product of 1866 reduced to refined	2,600,000
	2,800,000
Total home consumption	166,666
Total foreign consumption	1,950,000 2,116,666
On hand at home	283,480
On hand in foreign markets	400,854
Total surplus at home and abroad January 1, 1867	733,334

With this surplus stock of 733,334 barrels and the probability of increased production, prices must rule low the coming year. These figures apply only to Pennsylvania oil, the production of Western Virginia, Kentucky and other States not being included from the lack of definite information.

Chicago Cattle Market.

CHICAGO, January 2.—It has been an extremely quiet day for this class of stock, in fact there was not sales enough to present a fair range of prices. Sellers, however, owing to the meagre receipts, advanced their views 15 to 25c per 100 lbs on good shipping steers, and 10 to 15c on medium to good butchers stock. The only really good drove on sale were 41 head State steers, from Fulton County, which the owners (sprinner & Gorham) were unable to sell at their figures, and will try the chances East. The market closed quiet but firm at the following range:

Prime to choice beeves (nominal)	$6 00@6 75
Fair to good	5 00@5 75
Common to medium	4 25@4 85
Inferior mixed lots	3 75@4 12½

New York Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, January 4.—The trade this afternoon was not been very active, there being very little disposition to buy except to fill orders. The market for foreign goods begins to be a little agitated in view of the probability of some change in the tariff. Mr. Wells's report is received with approbation with most of the market, as they think it a wise measure. Prices are unchanged, and there is no likelihood that prices will be any lower than they are at present, unless trade should remain inactive for some time longer. There are out few spring goods yet in the market, and it is probable that they will open low.
